Orange City Police Department holds Community Watch Group

ORANGE CITY, Fla.— The Orange City Police Department has started a monthly community watch group meeting. The concept is to transition numerous fragmented neighborhood watch groups and unite them into one large group.

“The meetings are meant to be an informal way for the area to come and get tips about crime prevention,” Community Improvement Sergeant Greg Lariscy says. “The goal is to make neighborhoods safer and improve the community’s quality of life.”

The meetings are held every third Wednesday of the month, with the upcoming meeting on August 17. They are held at the Council Chambers—located at 201 North Holly Ave—from 6:00 to 8:00p.m. For more information contact Greg Lariscy at 386-851-7555 or glariscy@ourorangecity.com.
